

Fifty Years on Pointe

For 50 years, the Pennsylvania Ballet has brought culture and beauty to Philadelphia residents and visitors. To end its epic golden season, the renowned company presents A 50th Finale: The Ultimate Celebration, June 12-15 at Merriam Theater. The multifaceted performance includes a wide array of dance styles, ranging from "In the middle, somewhat elevated," William Forsythe's experimental interpretation of abstract movement, to Jerome Robbins' romantic "In the Night." The program also features two works from choreographer in residence Matthew Neenan: "Penumbra," an intimate piece for just five dancers that debuted in 2008, and an exciting world premiere piece. 250 S. Broad St., 215.893.1999, paballet.org—A.G.